

Erie's 100th Year Marked

THE ERIE RAILROAD OBSERVES A CENTURY OF PROGRESS today and tomorrow with a re-enactment of its inaugural run from the Hudson River village of Piermont to Dunkirk on Lake Erie. The William Mason, engine of the type which hauled the first train 100 years ago, is pictured beside a modern four-unit road diesel and a light train. The old-fashioned train will be part of the re-enactment train when the original two-day schedule is followed.

Erie History In Marion Goes Back to 1864

Began To Use Rail
Connections Of
A. & G. W. That Year

The history of the Erie Railroad in Marion dates back to 1864, when the Erie started to use rail connections of the Atlantic and Great Western Railroad's newly-extended section from Cleveland to Dayton through Marion.

The A. & G. W., a merger of three railroad companies started in the 1850's—the Erie & New York City in New York, the Meadville Railroad in Pennsylvania and the Franklin and Warren in Ohio—eventually merged into one company and was reorganized as the New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio (later NYP&O). In 1896 the Erie acquired the capital stock of the NYP&O and the property was conveyed to the Erie in 1941.

The Erie's second—and most important—connection through Marion was acquired in 1890 when it took over the Chicago and Erie Railroad Co., successor to the Chicago and Atlantic.

The Chicago and Erie ran between Marion and Hammond, Ind. and the Illinois-Indiana state line on the outskirts of Chicago.

This connection gave the Erie its highly desirable route from New York to Chicago through the Industrial Heart of America.

This connection of the line from the West to Marion was a policy of the Erie for Marion as well as the U. S. Bigwigs on Inaugural Trip Re-enact First Run Over Hudson-to-Lake Erie Line

Today and tomorrow the Erie Railroad will observe the hundredth anniversary of the completion of its original line with a re-enactment of the first run made on the Erie line.

A century ago the old "New York and Erie Railroad" became the first rail link between the Atlantic Ocean and the Great Lakes, uniting by rail for the first time two expanding areas of the country.

This line ran between the little Hudson River village of Piermont to Dunkirk on Lake Erie. Its construction was hailed as "the Work of the Age" and a "milestone in history."

Today the Erie has grown into one of America's foremost passenger and freight carriers, operating 2,245 miles of railroad between Jersey City and Chicago. Overcoming numerous financial setbacks and frustrations through the years, it now enjoys a thoroughly sound position and reputation for progress, service and dependability. In the past decade, $114,000,000 has been expended to effect one of the most complete programs of modernization ever undertaken by any railroad.

Erie's Birth

The Erie Railroad had its birth on Dec. 20, 1831, in Owego, N. Y., when a convention of local citizens met to discuss the needs and desires of the Southern Tier Counties of New York State for transportation.

Constructing a railroad through the wild, uninhabited and wooded country from the Hudson River to Lake Erie was a gigantic undertaking. Money was hard to raise. At the outset, it was estimated that the cost of the railroad would be six million dollars. Actually, when the road was finally completed to Dunkirk, the cost was over $20,000,000.

DANIEL WEBSTER, one of the honored guests on the first run, made the trip on a rocking chair securely fastened to a flat car. He didn't want to miss any of the scenery.

one time, by authority of the New York Legislature, a bond issue of three million dollars was arranged, the first railroad bond issue in this country.

The Erie was incorporated as The New York and Erie Railroad by the New York Legislature on April 24, 1832. Actual work was begun on November 7, 1835, when the first ground was broken at Deposit, N. Y. The first section

Set Production Records In West Europe

Marshall Plan
Countries Show
38 Percent Gain

WASHINGTON, May 14—(AP)—The Economic Cooperation Administration (ECA) today reported new production records in western Europe and called for even greater output to meet defense goals.

Industrial output in the Marshall Plan countries has reached an all-time peak, 38 percent higher than in 1938, ECA said in a report to Congress.

The report, covering the last three months of 1950, said agricultural production also established a new record, 10 percent higher than pre-war levels.

But the agency cautioned:

Need More

Western Europe's production must be further expanded if defense programs are to be accomplished without reducing living standards.

ECA conceded that greater industrial and agricultural production will be difficult in coming months because of rising prices and "critical shortages of basic raw materials."

But, it said, it is imperative for output to increase further if the western European nations are to make a contribution to defense production of the magnitude that is needed.

Since the Marshall Plan was started in April of 1948, a total of $12,300,000,000 has been allocated to 16 European nations and the territory of Trieste. In detailing Europe's economic comeback in the last quarter of 1950 ECA listed these achievements:

County Draft Quota for June Only Six Men

Marion County's June draft quota was set at six men today. The Associated Press reported from Columbus, State Selective Service headquarters issued a call for 1,455 men.

Col. C. W. Goble, Selective Service director, said it was the lowest quota set since the outbreak of the Korean war.

The Marion County group will be inducted June 18, the local draft board announced. Quotas set for other counties in this area were as follows: Delaware, 6; Crawford, 7; Hardin, 5; Morrow, 2; Union, 3; and Wyandot, 4.

Marion Schools Closed Today

Students of Marion schools enjoyed a one-day vacation today as their teachers participated in a tour of Marion plants in connection with Business, Industry and Education Day, sponsored by the Manufacturers Council of the Chamber of Commerce.

Plants visited were the Marion Industries Division of Motor Products, Fulfillment Corporation, Huber Manufacturing Company and the Arro Expansion Bolt Company.

Lunch was served to approximately 300 teachers at Moira Hall at noon by women of St. Mary Church.

FLOOD MARKS DROP

CHICAGO, May 14—(AP)—Fair and mild weather prevailed over a large section of the country today and in Mississippi River flood areas the big river dropped. The Mississippi crested Sunday along the Illinois-Missouri border and the forecast indicated rapid drops from flood stage at some cities.

Warren Seen Bidding For Nomination

California Governor
Strong Contender,
G.O.P. Leaders Feel

TULSA, Okla., May 14—(AP)—A determined bid by Gov. Earl Warren of California for the 1952 Republican presidential nomination was forecast by party leaders today.

With the Republican national committee members returning to their homes after winding up a conference here with weekend blasts at the Truman administration, Chairman Guy G. Gabrielson said the committee may meet next January in California to complete plans for its July presidential nominating convention in Chicago.

Although Warren was not represented at the Tulsa meeting by any active campaigners such as those who buttonholed delegates for Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, the California governor's name got frequent mention in lobby talk as a possible presidential candidate.

In previous years, Warren has shied away from any active drive for the nomination. He wound up in 1948 on the vice presidential end of a ticket headed by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Dewey for Ike

Dewey has taken himself out of the presidential bidding and announced his support for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, who apparently would become a candidate only if he were offered one of the major party nominations in a "draft" move.

Warren has been conspicuously silent on his choice for the top spot in 1952. Some of his friends say this is because the Californian may have decided that next year is the

Russia Said Building Up Near Korea

Marshall Testifies
Garrisons Enlarged
Since December

WASHINGTON, May 14—(AP)—Secretary Marshall testified today Russia has made "sizeable increases" in its military garrisons near Korea since last December.

Marshall told senators that while the Soviets always have maintained strong forces on their Siberian borders, there has been a recent buildup in strength.

He had mentioned this in testimony last week but his reference to December pin-pointed the time of the buildup as he had not done before.

Under questioning, Marshall also insisted that Gen. Douglas MacArthur's plan of stepped up air and sea fighting would not defeat Red China in Korea.

For the seventh day, the defense secretary was before the Senate armed services and foreign relations committees which are inquiring into MacArthur's dismissal from his Far Eastern commands.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the foreign relations group, asked Marshall whether "our air power and Navy could win a war against Red China and keep them from making an invasion of Korea?"

"Formosa you mean?" Marshall asked.

"No," Connally replied. "I mean keep them from coming over like they are now. Could our navy and air alone, without any ground troops—"

Doesn't Think So

"I do not think they could, sir," Marshall replied.

MacArthur has testified that only a few more ground troops would be needed in Korea to win a victory there if American bombers were permitted to raid Red China's bases in Manchuria, a naval blockade was clamped on the China coast, and Chinese Nationalist troops were used against the Communists.

In previous testimony, Marshall had argued this program involved to big a risk that Russia might intervene and touch off a global war.

He had questioned, too, whether the MacArthur program would end the war quickly. But Marshall once said that if he had absolute certainty the Russians would not come in he would favor bombing Chinese bases in Manchuria.

Connally remarked that MacArthur had testified he would not favor sending a single ground soldier to China.

Marshall broke in to say, "That was my understanding." Then Connally continued:

"—if we become involved in a war with Red China, and Russia should intervene, and then in that case we would have to send ground troops, would we not?"

Marshall: "Well, we would have to accept the fact that we could not reach the ground in China proper except by air and close naval action otherwise."

Bridges asked Marshall if he recalled that Chinese Communist leaders admitted 1,300,000 casualties from their civil war with Chiang Kai-shek's forces.

"I don't recall that statement, sir," Marshall said.

Bridges said: "That differs quite

Bids To Span U. S. Non-Stop In Tiny Plane

CLEVELAND, May 14—(AP)—Max Conrad reported today he was running low on gasoline but still has a "fighting chance" of completing his coast-to-coast non-stop flight in a Piper Cub.

Reporting by radio to the Civil Aeronautics Administration, he added, "I'll know for sure in another hour."

"I'm not so sure I can make it (to New York), but I have a fighting chance, he said over Cleveland at 10 a.m. (E.S.T.)

CAA listeners said he was cruising at 10,000 feet and expected to end the trip from Los Angeles within three and a half hours—if the fuel held out.

Reds Widen Threatening Bridgehead

Gain Near Chunchon
Despite Pounding By American Artillery

TOKYO, May 4—(AP)—Chinese Red troops today expanded a threatening bridgehead across the Choyang river on the central Korean front despite the pounding of American guns.

These forces northeast of Chunchon may spearhead a second spring offensive by the 300,000-man Red army, expected in about ten days.

Elsewhere along the 100-mile front United Nations patrols probed no-man's-land with little opposition. However, two sharp clashes broke out on the western front.

One American task force ran into a Chinese ambush and pulled back after a determined battle. The second prolonged fight began when an armored American outfit ambushed a Chinese patrol.

For the first time in the war U. N. forces are getting a small but steady trickle of Chinese deserters. AP Correspondent John Randolph reported from this front. The deserters, often showing up with surrendering leaflets, include some officers.

The Reds appeared to be avoiding strong contact while rushing fresh troops into buildup areas on the west and central fronts.

Bad weather screened their movements Monday.

AP Correspondent George MacArthur reported the Chinese deepened their penetration below the Choyang river despite a thundering American artillery barrage. There was little fighting between opposing infantrymen.

Flanking Threat

The bridgehead poses a flanking threat to Chunchon, key to rail and road networks, 45 miles north-east of Seoul. Strong enemy units were massing north of the river and between Kumhwa and Hwachon above the 38th Parallel.

Allied pilots hunting through the rain clouds reported Reds steadily filtering southward. One U. S. F-80 Shooting Star crashed behind Communist lines. The 5th Air Force said the pilot was killed.

Airmen reported more than two

Taft Sees Some Flaws Congress Looks Over Truman's Wage Board

WASHINGTON, May 14—(AP)—The congressional check-up of administration economic controls switched today to President Truman's new wage board, which Senator Taft (R-Ohio) says he doesn't like at all.

The wage board set-up was recommended by labor, and endorsed by Mr. Truman's farm and public mobilization advisers, but bitterly opposed by his industry advisers.

Labor agreed to go along with the mobilization program—after its walkout in January—only if the wage board was given authority to recommend settlement terms in defense industry labor disputes. It was designed originally simply to fix limits for wage increases under the government stabilization program.

Up To Congress

The matter comes before Congress now because all controls powers stem from the Defense Production Act which expires June 30. Proposals to renew and broaden that law are being weighed by House and Senate committees.

Dr. George W. Taylor, chairman of the new wage board, testified today before the House Banking Committee.

In testimony he prepared for the hearing, Taylor said the nation's wage and salary bill in January and February ran at the rate of $158,000,000,000. This was some $27,000,000,000 above the rate at the close of 1949, and $20,000,000,000 above the mid-1950 rate he said.

The wage board chairman cautioned that a further increase will make more difficult the job of effective price control.

A similar view was advanced

County Road Program Set At $119,567

23 Roads Slated
For Improvement;
Some Are Holdovers

Marion County Engineer Walter W. Johnson today announced the annual summer road improvement program for his department. The proposed program will include drag treatment for some 53.27 miles on 23 Marion County roads. Cost of the project has been estimated at $119,567.80 by Mr. Johnson.

Five townships, Marion, Montgomery, Prospect, Pleasant and Scott, have joined with the county in the amount of nearly six and one-half miles of road at an additional estimated cost of $13,840.88.

The work is to be done by force account which allows Mr. Johnson to complete the program with his department workers or any outside firms he deems necessary. The U. S. Construction Co. of Upper Sandusky has been engaged to do part of the work, scheduled to start early next month.

Holdover Program

Mr. Johnson said the projects include all but six of the roads on which work was tied up by the taxpayer's suit brought against the county last year by Lester L. Clymer of near Marion. Also included are other roads weakened by the severe weather conditions of last winter.

Mr. Clymer obtained a court injunction against proceeding with the 1950 program on the ground that the contract had not been awarded to the lowest bidder, L. C. Grundell of Richmond.

Marion County Common Pleas Court upheld the commissioners' who said they awarded the contract to the lowest and most competent bidder, U. S. Construction Co., Upper Sandusky. The verdict was appealed to the district court of appeals which only last week

Ban Voted By Sanctions Committee

Agrees 11-0 For World-wide War
Goods Embargo

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., May 14—(AP)—The United Nations sanctions committee today voted a worldwide ban on shipments of war goods to Communist China. The vote was 11 to 0, with Egypt abstaining.

The sanctions group, formally known as the additional measures committee, is a 14-nation body set up to consider punishment of Red China for her intervention in Korea. The committee's vote is only the first step toward imposition of the worldwide embargo.

Following this, the ban must be debated by the political committee of the General Assembly, and then by the assembly in plenary session. The Soviet bloc is expected to fight it in both forums to the last ditch. India, leader of the neutralist group in the U.N., is also expected to oppose the embargo as endangering any chance of peace negotiations with Peiping.

Expected to Pass

All signs point to eventual assembly acceptance, however, and the U. S. hopes adoption will be by an overwhelming majority.

British and French opposition to the move, based on the fear that it might enlarge the area of conflict, evaporated last week. Informed sources said Conservative protests in the British House of Commons about rubber shipments to Red China plus much adverse U. S. comment helped change London's mind.

Britain announced last Thursday that it was cutting off further rubber shipments from Malaya to areas controlled by Peiping.

Pushing of punitive measures against the Chinese Reds indicates the extreme pessimism with which the U.N. regards the possibility of a negotiated peace in Korea. The additional measures committee, set up under the resolution branding Red China an aggressor in Korea last Feb. 1, was to hold off recommendations for punishment until a U.N. good offices committee had every chance to try conciliation.

Members of the punishment group are Australia, Britain, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Egypt, France, the Philippines, Turkey, Mexico, the United States and Venezuela. India and Burma were named to the committee but have refused to serve.

Scope of Resolution

► Shipments of arms ammunition, implements of war, atomic energy materials, petroleum, and items useful in the production of armaments are prohibited to areas controlled by Communist China or North Korea.

► That all states prevent circumvention by such means as transshipments.

► That the committee study additional measures and make a further report. This would be deferred, however, if the good offices committee reported progress.

The ban's effect is expected to be more moral than practical since the Soviet Union, which supplies most of Red China's arms potential, will most likely ignore it.

Moreover, an assembly resolution has only the power of a recommendation and can be enforced only by moral pressure.

States which flout the request and continue shipments of war goods to Red China, however, probably can expect some sort of retaliation from countries observing it. The U. S. Senate already has approved legislation to end U. S. economic aid to countries "trading with the enemy" and a House committee is working on similar legislation.

Declares Military Situation Unchanged Since December

Korea War Has Been Stalemated For Past 5 Months, Correspondent Says

By JOHN RANDOLPH

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA, May 14—(AP)—There has been a lot of talk about the Korean war becoming a stalemate.

As a matter of cold fact it has been a stalemate for the past five and one-half months.

Except for the evacuation of northeast Korea and some guerrilla fighting in the south, the main front has never moved more than 85 miles since the first week of December.

All the sound and fury of battle since early December hasn't changed the real military situation in Korea.

The United Nations army under American leadership is playing it cool, keeping out of the clinches, and cutting up its huge adversary when it can without trying too hard for a knockout.

Last November, the Allies were settle the war or their governments send over enough troops to win it.

Playing It Safe

This doesn't mean that the army command over here isn't playing the game. It has done wonders considering the odds. But whenever the command has had a choice between a bold move or a cautious one, it has usually been cautious.

Now, when the Chinese are obviously reorganizing after some murderous losses, there seems to be little U. N. desire to make even swift limited but determined Air Force and Navy chiefs told Congress recently what they have on their minds about future recalls and releases of reservists. First, the Air Force . . .

No more volunteer reserve airmen. The ones who get no drill pay, will be ordered up. But that part of the organized Air Force reserve so far uncalled will be in uniform by June 30. Also, 4,000 individual volunteer reserve officers will report in May and 4,334 in June.

After July 1, volunteer air reserve officers will report at the astonishing rate of about 1,000 a month, including the entire Air ROTC 1951 graduating class. Such recalls, said the Air Force, will be voluntary "insofar as possible."

At the moment, involuntary officer calls are most frequent in the scarce specialties of communications, aircraft maintenance, finance, armament, air installations and weather.

None of the five remaining Air National Guard Wings will be called.

AS FOR RELEASES. The Air Force bases its plans on the expectation that about 30 percent of its reserve airmen will reenlist in the regular USAF. Separations of non-drill-pay reserve airmen will start in July with 194 getting out that month, 6,472 in August, 8,376 in September, 8,306 in October, 2,134 in November, 865 in December and varying numbers each month after that.

Air reserve officers are in for the full 21 months now allowed by law, but Congress may stick a provision in the new draft bill requiring the release of all non-drill-pay reservists after 12 months' service.

The Navy told Congress that starting in July it will call petty officers at the rate of about 1,000 a month. Each month about 6,000 seamen and firemen in organized units will be called and given boot training.

As for naval reserve officers, about 6,000 will get orders in the year ending in July 1952.

RESERVE COMMISSIONED and petty officers may get a hazy idea of the duty they're slated to get by knowing what ships will be activated. Only 120 ships will be demothballed in the year beginning this July, compared to about 300, more or less, since the Korean fracas began. They will include two escort carriers, four cruisers, 33 destroyers, 15 submarines and 61 mine craft, patrol craft and auxiliaries.

Also starting this July, the Navy will ship home about 1,000 non-drill-pay enlisted reservists a month. The release rate will be stepped up in October to 6,000 a month, two-thirds volunteer (non-drill-pay) reservists, one-third organized reservists.

An additional 20,000 Navy enlisted men, reserve and regular will be released before July 1952, due to the expiration of enlistments which were extended a year.

THE RELEASE OF USNR reservists, says the Navy, will be determined largely by "whose particular military skills can best be spared." A reserve radarman, for instance, might be needed badly on his ship while a reserve boatswain's mate, called up at the same time, could be spared. But the Navy said it will also take into consideration whether a reservist was in a drill-pay status prior to recall and whether he is a World War II vet.

The Navy, like the Air Force, plans to keep its reserve officers in uniform for the full 21 months. Tentative plans are that the first few will start home in April 1952. Those now on active duty will soon get a questionnaire to see how many want to remain in uniform. By this July the Navy says it can announce firm plans for the release of those who don't.

444 Examined At Pre-School Clinics in City

Dr. Martin M. Weinbaum, city health commissioner, today reported a total of 444 children had been examined at 12 grade schools during the past week.

Last year a total of 434 children were examined at the same schools. The children examined at the pre-school clinics will be members of the first grade next school year at the various buildings.

Dr. Weinbaum reported few serious defects were found in the 444 children. Most of those found were dental defects and abnormal tonsil conditions and a few hernias, he said.

Dr. Weinbaum's department was assisted in conducting the clinics by the Marion Academy of Medicine, the Marion County Dental Society and the Parent-Teachers Association of the public and parochial schools. All medical, dental and nursing services employed in the clinics were donated, Dr. Weinbaum added.

Following the clinics, Dr. Weinbaum recommended all pre-school children be vaccinated for small pox and immunized against diphtheria and whooping cough.

The clinics were held at the following schools with the number of children examined: Forest Lawn, 19; George Washington, 37; Glenwood, 42; Greenwood, 24; Mark, 51; North Main street, 24; Oak street, 27; Oakland Heights, 38;

Olney avenue, 20; Pearl Street, 62; Silver street, 49; and St. Mary, 51.

CLASS ENTERTAINED

The Sunshine Class of Prospect Street Methodist Church was entertained Thursday night at the church, with Mrs. B. K. Hill and Mrs. Fred Haas serving as hostesses. Mrs. Otto A. Long conducted devotions and read a poem, "Power," and Mrs. Noah Weaver, president, presided for the meeting. Plans were made to purchase drapes for the church basement. Speaker for the program was Mrs. Thelma Wilcox, teacher of religious education in the city schools. She discussed the various classes and the students she instructs and spoke of the operation of the religious training plan.

Pick the Star of the 1951 Season

BOB LEMON won 20 games or more in each of the last 3 seasons and should repeat. Bob is a repeat customer with Camels. "They're great tasting and get along fine with my throat."

ANDY SEMINICK'S big bat helped the Phils win last year's pennant! The 30-day Camel test helped Andy decide on Camels. He says, "Camels taste just right and they smoke cool and mild."

CARL FURILLO has speed, a great arm and power at the plate. Could you want more? And Camels have just what Carl wants in a cigarette: "They've got a swell flavor and they're mild!"

"PREACHER" ROE looks good for another great season. "The Preach" says Camels are great any season. "I tried a lot of brands and Camels came out my choice. They're for me!"

VIC RASCHI is a pitcher you always expect top performance from. Vic gets top "performance" from Camels. V.C. says, "You can't beat Camels' flavor—and Camels agree with my throat!"

JIM KONSTANTY was 1950's most sensational pitcher, the envy of every manager in baseball. Jim says, "With me, mildness is a must! Camels have it—and they have grand flavor, too!"

Your proving ground for a cigarette

Cigarette smoking is something you enjoy many times a day and week after week. So it makes sense to test a cigarette on that basis.

Smoke only Camels for 30 days—and let your "T-Zone" tell you how mild a cigarette can be. That's T for Throat and T for Taste—your proving ground for a cigarette.

You'll see how mild Camels are, how well they get along with your throat as a steady smoke. You'll enjoy Camel's rich, full flavor. You'll see why Camel is America's most popular cigarette!

How thorough can a cigarette mildness test be?

The most complete, most convincing test of cigarette mildness ever made was conducted in conjunction with noted throat specialists. Hundreds of men and women smoked Camels exclusively for 30 days. Each week, the specialists examined their throats. They made 2,470 careful examinations and then reported—NOT ONE SINGLE CASE OF THROAT IRRITATION DUE TO SMOKING CAMELS!

Published Figures Show CAMEL Leads by Still More Billions!

IN THE PAST two years, the smokers of America have made many cigarette tests—to find out the truth about "mildness." They've made sniff tests... puff tests... and the thorough, sensible test—the 30-day Camel mildness test. They've seriously tried to find out how mild a cigarette can be. And they've gotten their answer!

In these same two years, according to latest published figures, Camel has increased its lead as America's most popular cigarette by many billions of cigarettes a year! These figures show Camel with its biggest lead in 25 years of cigarette history!

More people have found what they want in Camels than in any other cigarette — mildness, pack after pack... and rich, full flavor, week after week after week. No other cigarette has Camel's fine flavor, the flavor of costly tobaccos properly aged and expertly blended!

And no other cigarette offers this conclusive proof of mildness—proof based not on a sniff or a puff, but on steady smoking:

In a coast-to-coast test of hundreds of people who smoked only Camels for 30 days, noted throat specialists reported not one single case of throat irritation due to smoking Camels!

Doctors in every branch of medicine were asked...

"What cigarette do you smoke, Doctor?" Again that question has been asked of doctors all over the country. Again the brand named most was Camel! According to this nationwide survey:

More doctors smoke Camels than any other cigarette!

Goodly Number Seen Ready By Fall

Rental Housing Seen Getting Attention By More Home Builders

WASHINGTON, May 14—(INS) There are definite signs the home builders are moving into the rental housing field on a broad scale and a considerable number of single family and duplex apartments may hit the market by early fall.

The defense program, credit regulations and inflation are spurring a new wave of rental housing planning now underway in the industry.

Production will continue to be geared mainly toward the "for sale" housing market but rental construction is beginning to make headway under the mobilization program.

Curiously, National Production Authority controls severely limiting construction of large apartment houses using more than 25 tons of steel will not impede total rental output.

THIS RESULTS FROM a number of factors, including the government's decision to build most of the new houses in critical defense areas in the "rental class". Out of 6,000 units to be built in San Diego for defense workers 4,000 will be rental, costing $55 to $75 a month.

Moreover, rental projects are exempt from real estate credit controls and many potential buyers affected by the restrictions, will be looking for rentals until they can buy.

Finally, builders think rentals make a good investment during an inflationary period. By retaining title to a rental project after it is built, the contractor has what he considers a good hedge against inflation.

Estimates are not available on rental production this year but in 1950 these projects accounted for 17 percent of the 1,396,500 units started. During the war years, rentals prospered and in 1943 about 25 percent of total home building fell into this category.

THE RENTAL SITUATION as studied recently by more than 300 builders attending a low-rent housing conference at Memphis, Tenn., sponsored by the National Association of Home Builders.

Memphis contractors disclosed how they have built 2,000 low-rent dwelling units since the end of the war with payments by tenants ranging from $31 to $50 a month.

Most of the units were of the one-story one and two bedroom type built on concrete slabs with "fills" excluded to reduce costs.

In most of the houses, curtains replaced closet doors, doorbells on first-floor units were eliminated, and veneer was used extensively to bring down painting costs.

Some builders and government officials criticized the lack of laundry and storage space but others said this problem could be overcome in future projects.

At the end of the meeting, many builders said they were determined to adapt Memphis methods to the construction of rental property in their own areas.

GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS are fighting all proposals for a one-quarter of one percent increase in interest rates on GI and Federal Housing Administration loans.

The suggestions have been advanced to attract investment money into the mortgage field which has been seriously affected by the flight of cash to government bonds.

Housing officials declare that the situation is temporary and will adjust itself in a few months as savings accounts are built up and cash is available for mortgage investment.

However, reports from all sources indicate that the shortage of mortgage money is now serious in every part of the country.

Although houses now under construction have not been hit, builders are concerned that the problem may halt operations a few months from now unless relief is forthcoming.

An alternate to an interest rate increase, some experts are suggesting that the government buy an unlimited number of FHA and veterans housing loans from builders to give them the cash

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

BUCYRUS—Albert Seivits of Bucyrus, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault in a menacing manner at his arraignment Thursday before Mayor Frank P. Sittler and was bound over to the grand jury on $500 bond. The charge was filed by J. D. Sears, Sr., prominent Bucyrus attorney. The mayor and police said they had no details of the alleged assault and Mr. Seivits was reported out of the city. The attorney's affidavit stated that Seivits drew a knife and threatened to cut Mr. Sears.

They need to start projects. This, however, probably will be rejected on grounds that it would feed inflation.

$25,000 Judgment
Set in Crawford Case

BUCYRUS—A verdict for the defendant was returned here Thursday night by a Common Pleas court jury in the $25,000 action for damages of Franklin Rarick Jr., of Bucyrus, against James Kent, also of Bucyrus. The jury deliberated more than three hours, ending a three-day trial.

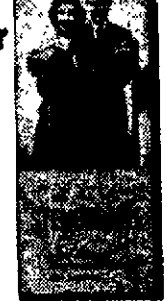

The action resulted from a train-auto collision near here on May 28, 1949, following the junior-senior reception at Bucyrus High School. Kent's car crashed into a New York Central freight train and both he and the plaintiff, a passenger in the Kent car, were injured.

The plaintiff alleged that Kent drove toward the crossing at about 60 miles an hour although he was familiar with it location and the visibility was poor.

Exports To China

By Raymond Moley

Conservatives Attack Labor Government

AFTER noting the answers made by President Truman and Secretary Marshall to the MacArthur demand that British shipments to the Red Chinese be stopped, we have a right to wonder whether it is Britain herself, or the Labor Government thereof that our Administration regards as an ally. For we are told by them that to take steps to stop those outrageous and indefensible shipments would lose us our "allies."

The fact is that the British Conservatives are as angry about such shipments as is our Republican Party. It may result in another vote of confidence and the downfall of Attlee.

Hence, it may be well for us to confine our indignation to the British Government and withhold our condemnation of the British nation.

The debate in Parliament on this subject has been very bitter. Under the heavy fire of Churchill, Eden, and others, the President of the Board of Trade was forced to disclose that British exports to China for the first quarter of 1951 were four times as great as in the first quarter of 1950. This, of course, included great quantities of rubber and other essential war materials.

EMANUEL SHINWELL, Attlee's strange selection as minister of defense, was first challenged by Conservatives. This man, who is supposed to be the directing genius of Britain's meager help to us on the bloody field of Korea, claimed that he was unable to answer, but that "the Government had taken a decision some time ago to prevent, so far as practicable, the export of strategic materials to China." He was then confronted with the reports of the president of the board of trade, Weakly, Shinwell answered that "no aircraft" had been exported. He could not deny the export of rubber, locomotives and ships. Then Eden demanded that the government publish what it considered to be strategic raw materials.

At this point, it should be noted that MacArthur was able to name them in his testimony without any hesitation at all. But Shinwell said that he was not prepared to commit himself.

Then the Olympian Churchill arose and contemptuously said: "You don't know anything about it at all."

THE REPORT OF the debate concludes by saying that Shinwell's answer was "lost in the uproar" that followed.

A day later, the prime minister came to the rescue with a lot of double talk about how the United Kingdom's so-called "licensing" of trade with China was working. To an American, as well as to his Parliamentary opposition, his explanation was wholly without meaning. So much so that when an exasperated Eden demanded the figures on rubber exports to China, Attlee weakly referred the matter back to the president of the board of trade.

It deserves to be added that on that same day those figures appeared in the London Times.

That an American blockade is essential to stop this trading with the enemy goes without saying. The best answer to what Britain would do in such a case was made to me at a meeting in New York ten weeks ago. Before a large audience I asked an important British official what his government would do if we blockaded the Chinese ports.

He replied: "We couldn't do a (blank) thing."

Marion County History Brevities

The early settlers of Claridon Township established schools and church societies, which for a time were held in the various cabins of these pioneers. Of the schools, the first was taught by Rebecca Aye in her home during the summer of 1822. The wages were very meager and for the most part, paid in produce.

Oh Say, Did You See?

By TRUMAN TWILL

HAVING BEEN bored to the breaking point by television viewers who described shows by blow and yak by yak the next day, I resolved never to do this when the Twillery became equipped with a gawk box. And of course the resolution has been broken.

But the offense is no greater than telling what Mr. Broadbeam wore at the party, or reciting the details of a memorable meal, both favorite subjects with women, and certainly it is no greater than a bridge boob's holding a post mortem, or a golf goof's dull description of his masterful work on the greens.

Describing a television presentation to someone who didn't see it is one of the things that go with the fad. People used to do the same things with the movies—still do. And they used to describe radio programs, plays and vacations—still do. Half of the fun of entertainment is talking about it afterward.

Besides, millions of us struggling with television in what will be known as the experimental phase of this new medium fancy ourselves as critics. We are exercising the prerogative of jack-seat driving.

Television's knottiest problem is going to be how to think up acceptable ways of keeping us talking about it. This is the perennial problem of all show business, and herewith is one critic's well-meant contribution to a solution.

It is simply this: That the television people should avoid talking too much, themselves. Theirs is primarily a pictorial medium. Their goal should be to satisfy the eye, and in striving to reach it they should not forget there are times when chatter is quickly poison. They are in danger of talking the ears off a lot of us who want a little peace and quiet.

Furthermore, and in the same line of criticism, the TVers should not bust so many home straps being cute. They should strive to be more natural, which is something it took the stage, the movies and radio a long time to learn. Babies and puppies can beat them at cuteness, do not have to be brought into focus and cannot be turned off.

One more thought: How about showing us customers some snow-scapes the first really hot summer night, to be matched some blizzards night next winter with selected scenes of summer? That is the sort of thing this new medium could do that would be something to talk about the next day.

Hit With Our Own Shells

Russia May Want Far Eastern War

By Walter Lippmann

IT IS, I think, clear that one of the determining factors in Gen. MacArthur's mind is that in the Far East the Soviet Union can exert only a small part of its military power. From the main Russian centers of population and of industry, the distance to the Soviet Far East is great and the communications are poor.

Russia, seen from Japan, looks, and indeed is, a far less formidable power than Russia seen from, let us say, Paris or Bonn or Trieste or Ankara. The Red army can march against Europe and the Middle East and pick up war industries and supplies as it advances.

But in the Far East there are only the comparatively limited forces east of Lake Baikal with their limited local war industries, dependent in case of war upon the vulnerable and inadequate trans-Siberian railway.

Moreover, it might even be easier for the United States with its command of the sea and air to build up power based on Japan than it would for Russia to build up power based on the Soviet Far East and Manchuria.

THUS, A WAR in the Far East, even against Russia and China combined, would be provided it was confined to the Far East—a war in which neither side could bring all its military forces—into the fighting.

The Russians could not bring in their immense army. We, for lack of decisive targets and essential bases, could use only a fraction—and not the most effective fraction—of our sea and air power.

A far eastern war, confined to the Far East, would be a big war. But it would be a limited war. Since neither side could use its whole power, there could be no decisive victory for which it has been said, there is in war no substitute.

But, seen from Japan and Formosa, an interesting case can be made for that sort of far eastern war. It would commit great American forces to the Far East. They would have priority. Since the war would have to be indecisive it would not be terminated by the kind of victory without which all is now "appeasement."

THEREFORE great American forces would be committed indefinitely in the Far East and a condition of permanent hostilities, without the danger of a truce or a negotiated settlement of any kind of modus vivendi, would be guaranteed to Joe Martin.

The administration's argument against Gen. MacArthur has been that such a general war against China would almost certainly bring in Russia and that this would mean that the third world war with the atom bombs and the overrunning of Europe would follow. Gen. MacArthur's comment on this argument was to say that: "The Soviet will not necessarily mesh its actions with our moves."

The general means, of course, that the Soviet might not go openly to war if we bombed the Manchurian bases of the Chinese army in Korea but that even if they did, the Far East is the most important place to fight the war and that this is as good a time as any to have a war with the Soviet Union.

I WONDER whether Stalin and Molotov and the rest of them may not be of the same opinion. We cannot know for sure what they think—not at least until the Politburo holds its next public debate on Soviet strategy and high policy—with stenographic reports, only slightly censored, every hour on the hour at 12 cents a page.

One thing I would bet on. The Kremlin has before it a comprehensive report which we are providing for them of what we know and of what we don't know and of what we are thinking and hoping and wishing and worrying about. There is no doubt, I think, that the Kremlin will mesh their actions with ours. The Russians are chess players.

As we are now informing them that we shall use either the queen's pawn opening or the Ruy Lopez, they will certainly be fully prepared to mesh their moves with ours when we make our moves.

THERE ARE, I believe, a great many bits and pieces of evidence—including Mr. Gromyko's behavior in Paris—which indicate that the Soviet Union may also have come to think that the Far East is the best theater in which to have war break out.

For the Soviets, the Far East is the safest and the most advantageous place to have a world war break out. In the Far East they have their most powerful ally. In the Far East we have no alliances. The Atlantic Pact does not operate outside the region defined in the pact, and while the British would, no doubt, join in a Far Eastern war, they are not any longer capable of important military action in the Far East.

In a Far Eastern war the Soviet Union can not be defeated. It can be defeated only by a war which broke out in the Far East would engage great American forces in a struggle that was certain to be indecisive and interminable.

THE WAR WOULD strain, and almost certainly disrupt the Atlantic alliance because France and the Low Countries and the Scandinavian countries can not be expected to declare war on Russia for the sake of Korea when that means inviting the Red Army to invade them.

If the Atlantic alliance is disrupted, if we are at war with Russia without the active support of most of western and southern Europe, we shall fight without being able to use our right arm. American atomic power would be not entirely but in very large measure neutralized.

Therefore, it might well be that the Russians may decide that a war in the Far East, and really confined to the Far East, would be the one of all the kinds of wars they could engage in that promises them the biggest advantage at the least cost.

Our China Policy

By George E. Sokolsky

GENERAL Douglas MacArthur's testimony on China bears out completely what has been said in this column regularly since 1943, namely, that the errors in our handling of China have been a rerun of our traditional policy.

General MacArthur said: "It is my own personal opinion that the greatest political mistake we made in a hundred years in the Pacific, was in allowing the Communists to grow in power in China."

"I think, at one stroke, we undid everything, starting from John Hay through Taft, Leonard Wood, Woodrow Wilson, Henry Stimson, and all those great architects of our Pacific policy."

"I believe it was fundamental, and I believe we will pay for it, for a century."

I think that we can go further than that. We have had a continuous policy of upholding the territorial and administrative integrity of China. This policy saved China from becoming a colony; it limited British, Russian and Japanese aggression in China up to 1931. Then it failed to be effective.

THE MOST IMPORTANT document in connection with this policy is a circular letter sent to the power by John Hay, secretary of state, in 1899. This is generally referred to as "The Open Door Policy" and has had the weight in Asia of the Monroe Doctrine for the Americas.

The essence of this document is in these paragraphs:

"The President (of the United States) . . . understands it to be the settled policy and purpose of Great Britain not to use any privileges which may be granted to it in China as a means of excluding any commercial rivals, and that freedom of trade for it in that empire means freedom of trade for all the world alike. Her (Britannic Majesty's) government, while conceding by formal agreements with Germany and Russia the possession of 'spheres of influence or interest' in China, in which they are to enjoy special rights and privileges, particularly in respect to railroads and mining enterprises, has at the same time sought to maintain what is commonly called the 'open door' policy."

"WHILE THE government of the United States will in no way commit itself to any recognition of the exclusive rights of any power within or control over any

The Psychiatrists' Convention

A national association of psychiatrists held a convention in Ohio the other day. We can't help wondering whether the boys were able to decide what a convention signifies, and whether it is symptomatic of anything that should be corrected. A thousand psychiatrists all in one place, looking critically at one another with a typical "I can see what your trouble is," must be pretty unnerving. We can fancy the following report:

The meeting was slow getting started, due to the fact so many delegates differed as to what they were there for. The chairman pounded heavily with his gavel, but got only a response that the use of a gavel was merely an indication of extroversion, perhaps partly due to the fact that as a child the chairman had never been allowed to play with gavel.

The chair kept pounding. This brought a demand for his case history. "The meeting will come to order," he called in a loud voice.

"He shouts!" explained one of the leading psychiatrists. "This is a clear proof of an alarming psychosis. When a man shouts it reveals clearly that something deep down in his libido is bothering him."

"Will the delegates please be seated at once?" called the chair.

This brought an expression of belief from all parts of the convention that the peremptory note should be observed and studied carefully. (Perfectly balanced people do not make peremptory demands, numerous delegates pointed out, asking one another if the chairman had had a normal boyhood in a normal home.)

"May I have your attention, please?" cried the chair, pretty exasperated by now.

"He is pleading," observed a prominent committeeman. "A sudden change of mood like this can be indicative of many things. It may be a defense against a hidden emotional disturbance."

Whether the delegates should pay attention to the chair and formally open the convention was now referred to a special committee. The committee adjourned to a lounge full of lounges. Each took one lounge, relaxed and began talking quite freely.

"So we were married but continued to live separately," said one psychiatrist to nobody in particular, his eyes shut tightly.

"I frequently dream I am fleeing across a field of cucumbers on a white steed," said another committeeman flat on his back staring at the ceiling.

"That will be twenty-five dollars. The charge for second visits is less," said a third. "This room is full of pigeons."

"When I was a child of about five years of age I got hold of my father's old army rifle and fired it at him and mother," said a fourth. "They took the gun away from me and were rather critical of my conduct. I never felt quite the same about life after that."

This seemed to be getting nobody anywhere. Finally a messenger from the main convention hall came in and asked if the committee had reached a conclusion on the matter under decision.

"What matter?" demanded one. (The others were now relating recurrent dreams.)

"You mean you don't know what matter?" demanded the messenger. "My! My! You fellows need a PSYCHIATRIST."

This brought the committee upright on the sofas. "That might be a good idea," said one. "Let's call a psychiatrist. Anybody know where we can get one?"

"We ARE psychiatrists," put in one committeeman, after a little thought.

"What are we doing out here?" asked another.

"We are at a convention," said the messenger.

At that they all fell back flat on the sofas again rather hopelessly. (After all, they had to admit, people who go to conventions must have something wrong with them.)

Mrs. Walter E. Hane, president, will preside. At this time Mrs. Hane will begin the second year of her two-year term as head of the Federation.

The meeting is being held on Wednesday instead of the regular Federation date, which is Tuesday.

Mrs. Kenneth McAdams, a former member of the club who has been making her home in Florida since last August, was present and talked on her home in Florida discussing the country there and the many places she visited. She was presented a special gift from the club.

The program committee was in charge of the evening's activities and is composed of Mrs. Carl W. Deibel, Mrs. J. E. Farst, Mrs. C. W. Minnick and Mrs. Zattau.

Marion Garden Center Notes

GERANIUM CUTTINGS

Do you have trouble with geranium cuttings? To start new plants, take cuttings at the beginning of May from plants that have been conditioned by as much outdoor exposure as possible. Choose hardened young growth, making the cut just below the fourth or fifth joint from the tip. Select short-jointed cuttings; they give promise of bushy, low-branched plants. Clip off all but three or four leaves at the top of each cutting, treat them with a rooting powder and immediately plant them two joints deep in a five inch pot of sandy soil, six cuttings to a pot. Set the pots outside in a sheltered place, where they get the morning sun and water them whenever the surface of the soil gets dry, in a month the pot should be filled with roots. Separate the plants carefully and pot them in five inch pots. A good soil mixture consists of three parts good garden soil, one of leaf-mold and one-half part sand. Morning sun is sufficient in summer and feeding with a complete garden fertilizer 1/2 teaspoonful to a five inch pot, keeps them growing vigorously. Feed in July and again in September.

Today's Fashion Flash

NEW YORK

CERAMIC HATS are dynamic new fashions for spring. Paris originated the mode in keeping with an international trend toward more novelty in headgear to increase interest in millinery.

They have turned out little cloches, bonnets and mesh caps, peppered with tiny china flowers. Sometimes the posies have buds and leaves which fit close together and tinkle as the wearer moves her head.

The ceramic flowers are stitched securely to cloth or net or straw frames.

They're breakable of course, so an emotional lady—who occasionally feels like "battering her head against a stone wall"—shouldn't.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. William Osborn Sr. of southeast of Marion are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Eloise Marguerite, to Adolph A. Gromes of New Jersey. The wedding took place May 3 in Cleveland.

Mrs. Gromes until recently owned and operated the Leda Louise Beauty Salon on Fairmount boulevard in Cleveland. Mr. Gromes is a manufacturer and designer of wrought iron and brass of the Hoboken Wrought Iron Andirons Co. in Hoboken, N. J.

Following the wedding, the couple left by plane for St. Petersburg, Fla., and later will fly to Havana, Cuba, for a month's vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Gromes will make their home at 67 Bedford avenue in Bergenfield, N. J.

The Asbury Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding Sunday afternoon of Miss Rosemary Every, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Every of near Marion, and Robert S. Dykes. He is a son of Mrs. Bessie Rapp of near Marion and J. W. Dykes of Marion. The ceremony was read by the pastor, Earl N. Hale, at 4 o'clock. Attendants of the couple were Miss Barbara Smith and Kenneth Belford.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white street length dress in a sheer material, and her attendant wore a pink street length dress with white accessories. The bride's flowers were pink carnations tied with white ribbons, and the bridesmaid's flowers were white carnations tied with pink ribbons. Piano music was by James Baker, cousin of the bride.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The four-tiered wedding cake, topped by bride and bridegroom figures, was baked by an aunt of the bride. Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Gregg of Kalamazoo, Mich., brother-in-law and sister of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Miers of Cleveland.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Claridon High School last year, is employed at the Marion Power Shovel Co. He and his bride are making their home at 459 North Main street.

Mrs. Dora Weatherbee of 632 Sugar street is announcing the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Pearl Crizer, to John L. Sontag, of 588 Uncapher avenue. The wedding took place April 14 in Middletown, O., and was read by Rev. J. H. Dennison of the Methodist Church there. Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Dall of Middletown, brother-in-law and sister of the bride. The couple are making their home at 588 Uncapher avenue. Mr. Sontag is employed as an engineer with the Erie Railroad.

Time Is Ripe To Nip Black Market In Meat

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

HERE WE go again, girls. The black markets of World War II are all set to go again, and by fall, economists predict, we'll be lucky to have beef on the table at any price.

Out of all the directives and announcements that have been pouring out of Washington on the subject of the price of meat, the thing seems to boil down to this:

So far the price of cattle is out about 10 percent, effective later this month, but housewives are still paying the same prices at the store, the price cuts that will be visible to the housewife are promised for later in the summer and fall.

But the cattle raisers naturally are miffed at this new price ceiling for beef on the hoof. Many are rushing to market their cattle before the price cut goes into effect May 20. Others predict that more and more buyers will be coming to the farm, offering above-ceiling prices for beef.

THAT IS THE way the black markets started during the last war, and that looks like the way they are ready to start once more. Not every farmer will take the trouble to find out what the premium buyer is going to do with his beef. If he is willing to pay fancy prices and plans to do a little illegal slaughtering, the farmer may feel that is not his concern.

Net result of all this is likely to be a shortage of legal meat at ceiling prices, and a new, flourishing black market.

The most effective way to kill a black market, of course, is for housewives to stop buying meat. This is hard to do, with the U. S. appetite what it is, but if American women get mad enough they can wipe out any illegal price squeeze overnight.

There probably would be a lot of complaining husbands, but it is possible to provide nourishing, appetizing meals without beef or lamb, the two meats apparently most in demand and therefore on the critical list.

CHICKENS, DUCKS and turkeys are still plentiful, and provide the makings for some pretty fancy meals. All kinds of fish also help stretch the food supply, and include such luxurious items as lobster, crab and shrimp.

Pork chops, ham and eggs, spareribs and roast pork are dishes that rate high with the American appetite, and still can be obtained

Pleasant Group To Buy Band Letters

At a recent meeting of the Pleasant Band Parents' organization at the school, plans were made to purchase chenille band letters for all students who have been members of the Pleasant senior band since before Jan. 2 of this year. It also was decided to buy letters in future years. Those who have received a letter in a previous year will be presented chevrons each year they continue to play with the band.

Lawrence Shafter, president, presided. Emerson Roush, music instructor in the school, gave a talk in which he reported on the concert of the instrumental departments given April 26, and in which he explained that each year the student band organization gives pins to graduating band members. He also commended the band on its work in the last year.

Next meeting of the Parents' organization will be after the opening of the next school year.

Women Voters Hear Member Of Ohio Board

Mrs. Clarence Klinger Of Warren, Speaker At Annual Meeting

The policy and objectives of the League of Women Voters were discussed by Mrs. Clarence Klinger of Warren, at the first annual meeting of the Marion League of Women Voters, Saturday, at the home of Mrs. William Diem of 301 Bradford street.

Lilies, tulips and other spring flowers throughout the rooms provided a setting for the meeting which was preceded by a luncheon at 12:30 o'clock. More than 30 members attended.

Mrs. Robert Fay, president, presided for the business session and the speaker was presented by Mrs. H. K. Mouser. Mrs. Klinger is a member of the Ohio Board of Directors of the League of Women Voters.

Fills Some Gaps

In discussing the league's work she said it fills some of the gaps in public schools and our political, economic and religious life. Pointing out that the league's aim is to help women to exercise their rights of suffrage, it has a four-fold objective, she stated. Its purpose, she said, is to help the individual realize her responsibility as a citizen, its policy non-partisan, its program limited to problems of government and its procedure to allow by the choice of the majority. Carrying out its democratic policy of following the choice of the majority, decisions on procedure come from the membership to the board, and in broadening its economic program the league presents an informative program on taxes, income and the government's use of money. While the league's main office in politics, it also broadens in spiritual values through unselfishness, tolerance, patience and faith. She concluded by stating that "The league is our tool for establishment of good government."

MRS. CLARENCE KLINGER

Board Named

During the business session the following were named to serve on the board of directors: Mrs. Lester L. Dickey, Mrs. B. N. Salzman and Mrs. Thomas Stanton. Named to act as a nominating committee for the coming year were Mrs. T. E. Sumanstine, Mrs. Kenneth Robinson and Miss Pansy Rauhauser. Mrs. Joan P. Courtwright served as chairman of the nominating committee.

Unit meetings were set for May 22 and 23 and a board meeting for June 4. The group voted to follow the board's recommendation to take up the study topic, "Know Your County," next year.

Serving as a committee with the hostess were Mrs. H. K. Mouser, Mrs. Dan G. Hale, Mrs. Lester L. Dickey, Mrs. J. E. Frew, Mrs. Francis Wanda, Mrs. Patrick Sieman, Mrs. William Clauser and Mrs. Norman Winslow.

Body of Missing Correspondent Is Found in Fjord

OSLO, NORWAY, May 14—(AP)—The body of Lyford Moore, American Broadcasting Co. correspondent missing for five months, was found in Oslo fjord yesterday and police sought to determine the cause of his death.

The body was identified by fingerprints. A medical expert said the body showed no signs of death by violence, but that a further investigation is being made.

The 40-year-old Moore, a native of Detroit, Mich., was last seen alive Dec. 10, four days after the American embassy announced he had vanished and asked Oslo police to conduct a search.

A police patrol boat yesterday found the body floating in the water near the western shore of the fjord just south of the city. Remains of clothing still were on the body but the pockets were empty and no documents or money could be found.

Moore was chief of the ABC bureau in Berlin.

Two Arrested After Fight

Both Treated For Knife Wounds

Two Marion men got into a fight Saturday night on Kenton avenue, and both were arrested and charged with assault and battery.

They were: Lloyd Simpson, 39, of 822 Kenton avenue and Alfred Fowler, 31, of 183 Senate street. Police were called by Marion City Hospital attendants when the two men were taken there by Kenton avenue neighbors for treatment of wounds.

Police investigation revealed the two men got into a fight at the home of Fowler at 9 p.m. Saturday. Fowler sustained a cut on his arm and several front teeth were knocked out. Simpson sustained a knife wound on his back. Both men were arrested following their release from the hospital and were taken to Marion City prison.

At their arraignment today, Fowler pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $50 and costs and sentenced to 10 days in jail and Simpson pleaded not guilty to the charge and was held on $100 bond for a hearing later.

Stalemate

counterattacks—although this is the best time to do so.

But bold offensive action and counterattacks, even if they do not risk the safety of the army, would mean casualties. And even since the dark hours of last fall the command has been extraordinarily sensitive about casualties and has made every effort possible to avoid them.

Above from the ever present risks of war, the command has taken only two real chances since December. One was the parachute drop of the 187th Airborne regiment last March at Munsan. The other was the Eighth Army order for the 2nd Regiment to stay in Chipyong and risk complete Chinese encirclement.

Neither of these was a reckless decision. The paratroopers actually landed almost unopposed and were relieved by a task force by nightfall. Chipyong was a much closer shave, but largely because (1) the Chinese simply obliterated the South Korean Eighth Division, screening the town and (2) bad weather prevented some supply drops.

The "city at safe" policy has been a tremendous success in keeping U. N. casualties down. It is difficult to get any overall official figure, but by any standard Allied losses in Korea since December must be sensationally below the normal casualty expectations for an army in the field.

There have been two ugly incidents since the stalemate began. One was the mid-February massacre north of Hoengsong when nearly half the 38th Regiment was killed. But this too was partly because of the quick death of the South Korean Eighth Division and partly because the regiment was stalling over 17 miles.

The other unhappy event was the almost total loss of the British Gloucester Battalion April 23 to 25 with nearly 600 casualties.

ROK Vice President's Resignation Accepted

PUSAN, KOREA, May 14—(AP)—The resignation of Lee Seok Yung, 82-year-old vice president of the Republic of Korea, was accepted today.

The national assembly vote accepted the resignation was 77 to 10 and 41 members abstained. Only last week the assembly unanimously member dissenting and voted against accepting Lee's resignation.

Lee explained, in submitting his resignation, that he had no political activity. He also voiced criticism of President Syngman Rhee's cabinet selections.

CHIEF THOMAS BRAGG

Chief Jailed For Murder

PERRY, Ga., May 14—(AP)—A police chief who claims he killed two AWOL paratroopers in self-defense has been jailed on a murder charge.

Thomas Bragg, 46, police chief at nearby Hawkinsville, was arrested and jailed without bond Saturday night. Houston County Sheriff C. C. Chapman said he expects the case to go before a grand jury soon.

Bragg was accused of murder in a warrant sworn to by the mother and widow of one of the soldiers. Pvt. Lon G. Asman, 21, of Woodlake, Calif. Both were stationed at Fort Bragg, N. C.

The officer said he shot the paratroopers to protect his own life when they attacked him and threatened to kill him. Bragg reported he arrested the men Friday night for being absent without leave and was driving them from Hawkinsville to Warner Robins Air Force Base when the shooting occurred.

He said the paratroopers, unarmed and handcuffed together, jumped him as he drove across a narrow bridge.

A Houston County coroner's jury listed the shootings as self-defense.

Army authorities are investigating the slayings.

Alert British Paratroopers

LONDON, May 14—(AP)—Britain told its trouble-shooting 16th Independent Parachute Brigade group to bring itself at once to a state of readiness.

Simultaneously Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison interrupted his Whitsun holiday on the Isle of Wight—kept in touch with the foreign office by phone on the latest development in Iran.

There was speculation that the two events were connected, and that Britain was ready to make a strong stand, if necessary, to hold its rich oil concession in Iran.

But this speculation was without official confirmation. A war office spokesman stressed that the parachute brigade was not under sailing orders. He described the alerting order as routine war office business.

Marshall

a lot from the information which is put out in this country, that the Chinese Nationalists didn't fight."

He then asked if the secretary recalled the following statement by Dean Acheson, now Secretary of State, to the House foreign affairs committee on March 20, 1947:

"The Chinese government is not in the position at the present time that the Greek government is in, not approaching collapse, not threatened with defeat against communism. The war with the Communists is going on much as it has for the last twenty years."

Marshall said, "Well, if I was familiar, at that time, I presume I was, I have forgotten just the details of that."

Bridges: Do you think that is a correct statement at that time?

Marshall: Hearing it today, the way you have read it, it would seem so.

Bridges: You think that the State Department was justified in its opposition to certain congressional demands for aid to China?

Would you say, now, that the rather publicized 80th Congress possessed some foresight, and might have been unnecessarily belittled, in its actions in the light of recent events in Asia?

Marshall: That is quite a question, senator.

The defense secretary went on to say he asked Congress for $575,000,000 to help the Chinese Nationalists and that Congress finally voted, according to his recollection, $400,000,000.

Differ on Figures

"I think you are wrong," Bridges said. Both agreed to check the figures later.

Marshall also told Bridges he didn't recall that the War Department gave him a set of instructions—in addition to the instructions received from the State Department—before he left for China in 1945 on his unsuccessful mission of trying to end the civil war in China. President Truman sent him on the mission.

Water Franchise, Sidewalk Due In Council Tonight

An ordinance to grant the Marion Water Company a 25-year franchise will be presented at tonight's meeting of City Council and a public hearing will be held on a sidewalk for Indiana avenue.

Clarence Sanden, a member of the council utilities committee, said that although the ordinance is to be brought in, there probably will not be any action taken on the measure. The possible purchase of the Water Company by the city is still in the talking stage and a meeting is scheduled in the near future with Water Company officials to discuss the matter, he said.

Members of the George Washington and Vernon Heights Junior High School P.T.A.'s are to be present at the council meeting to act on action on a sidewalk on Indiana avenue east from Grand avenue. When the sidewalk was brought up at a previous meeting it was suggested that the P.T.A. groups help raise funds to pay for the project. P.T.A. officers are expected to report on the prospects for raising funds to help share the cost with landowners in the area.

Retail grocers of Columbus and Southeastern Ohio may not use the new markup allowed by the Office of Price Stabilization unless they have filed with the district OPS office at 68 East Gay street, Columbus, Edward F. Wagner, district director pointed out today.

The new deadline for filing which shows the grocer's classification under ceiling price regulation 15 and 16, is May 14. On and after that date individual stores must display signs showing their group classification. Wagner also warned that retailers of clothing, hardware and other consumer items, covered by ceiling price regulation 7, must file their pricing charts by May 30 in order to price under the regulation.

Packards are built for priceless folks....like yours!

When the folks you love are involved . . . you could justify the purchase of a Packard on the basis of superior safety alone.

And if you're obliged to be budget-conscious—that still needn't deprive your family of a Packard. Bear in mind that the solid quality behind Packard safety has a dollars-and-cents payoff in many ways. For example:

- Packard Thunderbolt engines give you more than trustworthy reliability that keeps you in the clear . . . They pay dividends with: the efficiency of America's highest-compression eights and the service-free simplicity of a design with up to 25% fewer working parts than in engines of comparable power!
- Packard's exclusive Ultramatic Drive gives you more than swift responsiveness, and complete control under all driving conditions. It pays dividends with: No gas-wasting shippage when cruising. Those are just a few highlights of the mechanical-life story behind the human-life story of this new 1931 Packard. They help explain why, of all the Packards built—in the last 52 years—over 50% are still in service!

It's more than a car—it's a PACKARD

Democracy Acts

NEW YORK — THE CRITICS of Miss Democracy are always complaining that the old girl is sedentary and slow as molasses in January. But she acted on the double less than 26 hours ago.

When she heard of the plight of ex-Marine David R. Arellano, of Tucson, Ariz., a Purple Heart veteran of the fighting in Korea, Miss Democracy went into action in high gear.

Mr. Arellano, 31, suffering from throat cancer, was refused admission to a Veteran's Hospital near Tucson because his name was not on the list of Purple Heart recipients. He was still in the fighting in Korea, and the ex-Marine was not eligible for treatment.

The colonel was and still is in the fighting in Korea. He is not recognized as a war hero. But he took both houses of Congress, and they had heard of Mr. Arellano only a few hours to pass a bill entitling the veterans of the Korean fighting to all the rights, benefits and privileges of men who have been engaged in America's legal wars in the past.

Inez Robb

DOUBTLESS THE Tucson boy must have found this very comforting no matter how carefully the colonel explained it. If the former Marine could still react to anything outside the pain and urgency of his immediate need,

On Being You

NEW YORK — EVERYBODY says, "Be Yourself."

And isn't it wonderful that you can't? It's the nicest thing in the world—the mere miracle of being you.

It is the biggest single treasure anyone ever has—his own identity.

Wouldn't you really hate to shuck it off and be somebody else? Sometimes people get exasperated by their own lives and their own problems. They say, "I'd like to be somebody else."

But would they? Whom? Pin them down, and it turns out they always want to remain themselves. They may want to have some trait or look that belongs to someone else. But as for actually trading places with him—no, indeed. Each self wants to retain its own individuality.

There is a secret pride in the inner pattern of its being that is elementary to the elephant and moulded into the smallest mouse.

The mouse looks at the elephant and thinks:

"Boy, what muscles! With his build—and my personality — I could really be something."

And the elephant looks at the mouse and thinks:

"I'll bet he never has to butt his forehead going under tree trunks. Lucky runt. He's got a thumbtack for a nose instead of the heavy old trunk I got to lug around. But it must be awful to go through life being scared of everything."

Hal Boyle

Inside Labor

THESE are critical times for the Department of Defense in more ways than one. I was told the other day by one of the nation's top war department strategists: "Labor is critical of us, industry is critical of us and the people are critical," he said emphatically. And then added:

"But we'll have the guns, bazookas, landing craft, warplanes and other electronic weapons ready by the magical mid-1953 date. That's if we don't get bogged down in the strike wave we expect to see in a running battle between the labor chiefs and the industrialists which is about to hit the open air."

He said this in a room where a black marketeer was snatching needed iron, steel, copper and other precious metals right from under us.

"Mean while, we're trying to get our business as fast as possible and we're all the while jobs we can until we're in full work."

He looked over some papers on his desk and came up with a typical problem. There's one big company hard hit because it can't get nickel, now as scarce as Soviet uranium, to continue rolling out civilian and mobile batteries.

Nickel is in such short supply that even the Defense Department can't get it except for high-priority weapons.

SO THE BIG FIRM must go to the people with lax-off nickel and there's great grumbling against the Defense Department, although it has just placed a der the present set-up, no returned veteran from Korea is eligible for hospital benefits unless he has been discharged from the service because of a duty disability," for—after all—the United States legally is not at war with anyone in Korea.

THERE WAS confirmation for the colonel's technical stand. And this must have banished the last of Mr. Arellano's confusion. That confirmation came from William T. Hardaway, manager of the regional office of the Veterans Administration in Phoenix.

"The law," confirmed Mr. Hardaway, "says that we will provide hospitalization for veterans of wars the United States has fought. Technically, this man is not a veteran of a recognized war."

So what happened to ex-Marine Arellano at the Veterans Hospital was as legal as Blackstone, and right out of Hoyle. And it was only for a moment that I thought of writing a sharp letter to my congressman about Col. Gaines.

Because I think the colonel has inadvertently pin-pointed a situation that grows more puzzling each day to the great American public. The unhappy colonel, standing on the technicalities, none the less was sorely troubled by the humanities in the Arellano case. As he turned the boy away, Col. Gaines asked the $64 question:

"If this isn't war, I'd like to know what the hell it is."

I'd like to hear the answer to that one, and hear it from the United States government.

By Hal Boyle

But finally she is convinced it's the real thing. So you go into a huddle together. Who do you want to be? Who does she want you to be? You hurry through history—this man? That man? At last you go back slowly to the genie.

"Have you made up your mind?" he says impatiently. "I'm fifteen minutes late to Baghdad. Well, who do you want to be?"

"My wife," you tell him deprecatingly, "doesn't want me to be anybody else. She says she wants me to stay myself—and she'll make any changes that are necessary."

"I didn't ask your wife," thunders the genie. "I asked you who you wanted to be."

"Well," you mutter defensively. "I'm getting along all right. I guess I'll stay me."

AND THE GENIE'S face suddenly creases in a tremendous grin.

"You've got more common sense than I thought," he said. "You know what I wish though—I wish I were you. It's lonely being a genie. Goodbye."

The wife quickly hands the big fellow the reading lamp.

"Here, take this with you," she says. "I don't want any more nonsense like this."

And the genie disappears in a clap of thunder and some more black smoke.

"Don't you be sorry, honey, you're nice enough as you are," says your wife, patting you on the cheek. And then she adds suspiciously:

"What were you rubbing that old lamp for anyway? Don't you think I dust this room every day?"

And there you both are—back in the daily heaven of being merely you, together.

multi-million-dollar contract with the corporation for special tank parts. But, the company can't start producing these parts until it secures special machinery to punch them out. This may take months. In rush Defense Department specialists. They sit down with the union and company officials and ask what the plant could hammer out in place of the nickel-devouring bumpers until the special machinery arrives.

The decision was made. Special interim war contracts were placed there. And hundreds of jobs were saved. At the same time, Defense Department agents hurried to the firm making the special machinery for tank production and needed it into rushing the stuff.

That's just one of thousands of such cases. And the Defense Department executive pointed out that the union leaders who are now preparing to blast the department at upcoming presidential conferences, should be aware of the temporary nature of these layoffs. It was revealed, for the first time, that this country's war factories actually will need 7-200,000 new workers in the next 18 months. This means that somewhere we must find 4,000,000 people who aren't working today since we can only get 3,200,000 from civilian jobs. There'll be work for everybody—and more.

THE SITUATION IS far from black except on the grim gray market.

It may sound fantastic, but even as the Defense Department, and the hundreds of little firms which feed the giant corporations the parts for powerful weapons, are starved for precious metals, there are nationwide black market rings

Rollins' Prexy Stands Ground Against Ouster

WINTER PARK, Fla., May 14 —(AP)—Dr. Paul A. Wagner, who aroused student, alumni and faculty wrath when he said nearly one-third of Rollins College faculty members would be dismissed in an economy move, said early today he is still president of the school.

The 33-year-old Wagner, youngest college president in the nation when he was picked to head Rollins in 1949, made his blunt statement after being informed trustees of the institution had voted him out. The trustees announced late last night that a majority of their number had voted to oust him.

"I am still president of Rollins College and intend to remain so unless legally removed by the board of trustees," Dr. Wagner said in a statement. "I will be in the president's office as usual."

The controversy began last March when Dr. Wagner announced that in the interests of economy 23 of the 75 faculty members would be dismissed and intercollegiate athletics dropped this fall. At that time students, alumni and faculty groups demanded he resign.

John Crosby is in Europe on vacation. In his absence his column will be written by friends.

By JOHN LARDNER

As one who forgets more often than not to tie his shoes, or to put his children through college, but who almost never forgets the words of a silly song, I was both exhilarated and saddened by certain fragments of song lyrics that appeared in this space some time back. My young friend, the regular contributor of the column, remembers some beautiful music.

but he did not remember them quite right. For instance, "They wanted a songbird in Heaven"—says he—"so God took Caruso away." Songbirds like Caruso are not wanted, like bank robbers or confidence men in most office announcements, they are needed. The way that line ballad began was:

"They needed a songbird in Heaven.
To sign when the angels would play.
So God told the angels where one could be found.
They came and they took him one day . . ."

A few years later, five years, it was, another hurry call went out from Heaven, and this fellow turned out to be a songbird, too, though very few of us had suspected it down here. The song called "There's a New Star in Heaven Tonight" ended thus:
"There's a voice singing 'Lead Kindly Light,'
With a smile that has made the world bright . . .
Valentino, goodbye.
But 'way up in the sky,
There's a new star in Heaven tonight."

SPEAKING OF "GOODBYE," there was one other small flaw in

Mr. Crosby's memoirs. It was trivial, and I wouldn't mention it except that a true classic is involved in this case. The columnist spoke of "If He Can Fight Like He Can Love, Goodbye, Germany!" The term there has got to be "Good Night," not "Goodbye." The situation clamors for it. Mr. C. quoted, pretty nearly correctly, the lines "I know he'll be a hero over there—'Cause he's a bear in any Morris chair." There's still another ending in the second chorus, and a good one:

"I never saw him in a real good scrap—
But you're a goner when you're in his lap,
And if he fights like he can love,
Why, then it's good night, Germany!"

By permission Leo Feist Inc.

Also Mr. Crosby named, as his authority for the song, a certain Mitchell Rawson. This Rawson, a virtually unflinched Southern whippoorwill, is a good man on songs from the Ziegfeld Follies (in fact, there is no one better), but he was little more than knee-high to a chilling at the time when your correspondent and a well-known minstrel named Honey-Throat Reagan first made "If He Can Fight" popular from coast to coast (or, at any rate, from Seventh Avenue to Eighth Avenue).

BUT WHY QUIBBLE? The spirit of those old topical songs is too serene and moral to encourage arguments, and I honor Mr. Crosby for having called attention to them. I will merely throw a few more soft coals on the fire.

He is a close associate of former Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York, now ambassador to Mexico.

AND FINALLY, to show Mickey Mantle, of the Yankees, that the people are always on the side of the man who swings that old wagon-tongue (a radio expression), a few words from a song that was written to Babe Ruth before the world series of 1921:

Jess Barnes pitches 'em slow,
But we don't care, Bambino,
So long as you come thru!"

portion of the Chinese empire . . . it cannot conceal its apprehensions that there is danger of complications arising between the treaty powers which may imperil the rights insured to the United States by its treaties with China."

Further, John Hay wrote:
"It is the sincere desire of my government that the interests of its citizens may not be prejudiced through exclusive treatment by any of the controlling powers within their respective 'spheres of interest' in China, and it hopes to retain there an open market for all the world's commerce, remove dangerous sources of international irritation, and thereby hasten united action of the powers at Peking to promote administrative reforms so greatly needed for strengthening the imperial government and maintaining the integrity of China, in which it believes the whole western world is alike concerned . . ."

THE OPEN DOOR POLICY was aimed at Russia, which was then engaged in the conquest of Manchuria. This issue came to a head during the Boxer Rebellion and John Hay on July 3, 1900 sent another note which read:
" . . . We adhere to the policy initiated by us in 1857, of peace with the Chinese nation, of furtherance of lawful commerce, and of protection of lives and property of our citizens by all means guaranteed under extraterritorial treaty rights and by the law of nations . . . The policy of the government of the United States is to . . . bring about permanent safety and peace to China, preserve Chinese territorial and administrative entity, protect all rights guaranteed to friendly powers by treaty and international law, and safeguard for the world the principle of equal and impartial trade with all parts of the Chinese empire."

It is not possible here to go into all the details of the attempts of Russia to steal Manchuria—all of which were thwarted by the United States. Mention need only be made of the Washington conference (1921) presided over by Charles Evans Hughes, then secretary of state, at which China's integrity was guaranteed by the then nine principal powers, the United States, Belgium, Great Britain, China, France, Italy, Japan, Netherlands, and Portugal. Russia was not invited to the conference.
This policy the United States reiterated at Cairo (1943) but renounced at Teheran (1943) and Yalta (1945). Instead the United States facilitated the conquest of China by Soviet Russia.

Two-Way Radios For A Better Service...

For several months two-way radio equipment has been in use on all our cars. During that time it has proved itself on many occasions.

When people call a funeral home, it usually is for ambulance or other service that they expect promptly. Before we had the two-way radios, there was a gap in our service at any time we were out on an ambulance call, or for any reason away from our telephone.

The two-way radio system has met that situation. It keeps us always within speaking distance of our office, and enables us to give a more prompt service when occasion demands.

The Way We Serve

The average efficiency engineer is a hard man. He insists that each operation be completed with the utmost economy of time and effort, and that a suitable cost sheet be maintained, and prices based strictly on this cost sheet.

The Schaffner-Denzer organization believes that efficiency engineers are all right in their place, but that their place is not in a funeral home. We believe that each family, regardless of how much or how little they pay, should have exactly the same type of interested, personal attention—and that's exactly the way we serve!

New Strategy To Oust Acheson Suggested by Representative

WASHINGTON, May 14—(AP)—Rep. Phillips (R-Calif.) today came up with a new strategy for House Republicans seeking to force Dean Acheson out of office as Secretary of State.

Such a campaign has been under discussion in House cloak-rooms for several weeks, and administration leaders have conceded privately they are not at all sure they can stop it.

Phillips, a member of the Appropriations Committee, has drafted an amendment which would strike Acheson from the State Department payroll without mentioning him by name. Attempts to eliminate individuals by name have been blocked in the past by court rulings.

Phillips' amendment would prohibit use of any State Department funds to pay anyone in the department who in the previous five years "was connected directly or indirectly with a business or professional office, any part of whose income was derived from business relations or professional services for any government other than the government of the United States."

"That would get Acheson," Phillips told newsmen, "because his law firm represented some foreign governments within the past five years and while he still was associated with it."

Phillips said he questioned the validity of a proposal advanced earlier by some House members to deny, in an appropriations bill,

He is a graduate of Harding High School and attended Officer Training School in Columbus before entering service.

Drowning Ends Gorilla Romance At Bronx Zoo

NEW YORK, May 14—(AP)—America's most promising gorilla romance has been ended abruptly.

Makoko, 14-year-old great ape, took a fatal tumble into a Bronx Zoo moat yesterday on the eve of his transplanted jungle honeymoon.

A daring rescue attempt by a keeper of birds, who plunged in after the popular 440-pound gorilla, came minutes too late.

Great apes cannot swim, and Makoko thrashed about wildly. His panic apparently prevented him from finding two horizontal cables put below the surface of the water for just such an emergency.

Makoko's 12-year-old, 335-pound neighbor and fiancée, Oka, did not see the tragedy. But a keeper said:

"She'll know what's happened. She'll grieve. She won't live now."

The moat, which replaces bars, is more than six feet deep and 12 feet wide. It separates the animals from the public.

Miss Nussbaum is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nussbaum of 932 East Center street.

Steel Dubious On Controlled Materials Plan

CLEVELAND, May 14—(AP)—It will take months before steel makers become fully acquainted with the Controlled Materials Plan, the magazine Steel said today.

The plan, going into effect July 1, will regulate the distribution of steel, copper and aluminum for civilian and defense use.

"It looks as though it will be September, possibly October, before the new method of distribution can be made fully operative," the magazine reported.

"Actually, the third quarter promises to be little more than a warm-up period to CMP."

Steel production still is being maintained at a record breaking output, with last week's output rate holding steady at 104 percent of capacity.

"How long this fast production pace can be maintained in the face of the severe heating production facilities have taken over the past year is a question," Steel continued.

"Certainly, the steelmakers are showing more concern and with the vacation season approaching they are giving thought to utilizing the idle time for mill repairs."

Steel also stated that some quarters are advancing the possibility that some reduction of the government's requirements for defense steel may be planned.

"Currently," it said, "unconfirmed reports are circulating to the effect a cut in steel supply for the freight car program is under consideration for July."

Mrs. J. B. Holloway, vice president, Mrs. W. E. Shover, secretary and Mrs. Bertha Burrey, treasurer. The group voted to pay $5 toward new books for reading points for the circle. The next meeting will be an all-day affair at the home of Mrs. Burrey of 1119 South Prospect street.

The crocodile was worshipped in some parts of ancient Egypt and despised as evil in others, a fact leading to serious feuds between neighboring towns.

- 1 cup cooked rice
- 1 lb. ground smoked ham
- 1 lb. ground veal
- 2 beaten eggs
- 1/2 cups milk
- 1/2 t pepper
- 1 t salt
- 1/2 t garlic salt
- 1/3 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup vinegar
- 1 T dry mustard

Put rice, salt and 2 cups cold water in a two-quart saucepan.

Cover with a tight-fitting lid. Set over a hot flame until it boils vigorously. Then reduce the heat as low as possible and simmer for 14 minutes more. Never stir rice while cooking.

Mix ingredients for loaf together, beat eggs into milk, making a soft mixture. Pour into well greased loaf pan and pat down so top is even. Combine brown sugar, mustard and vinegar. Pour over top of loaf and bake one hour at 250 F. Garnish loaf with green beans or other vegetables. Serve with sauce, catsup or gravy if desired. Serves six persons.

Union Co. School Consolidation Set

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE—Final plans for accommodating high school students from Jerome Local and Millcreek Local high schools were completed by the Marysville board of education at its regular meeting Thursday.

Jerome and Millcreek school districts are being consolidated effective next September. While all details of the consolidation have not been worked out, there will be no high school in the new district. The new district will furnish transportation and tuition to send its high school students elsewhere.

It is expected that they will all come to Marysville because of educational facilities offered by the school here and because it will simplify transportation problems.

Meeting with the Marysville school board was the newly appointed board of the new, consolidated district. Members of this board are Jesse Mitchell, Homer Christman, Ralph Hagenlocker, John Scott and Pearl Bourc.

School hours will be rescheduled so that the students will spend 45 minutes less time per day in school, without substantially reducing the length of their classes.

School will begin at 9 a.m. instead of 8:45 a.m. and end at 3:15 p.m. instead of 3:45 p.m. Classes and lunch hours will be staggered and classes will be continuous.

The board also voted Thursday to employ a full time vocational agriculture teacher next year, instead of having a teacher on a 50-50 basis as Marysville now has.

Four Teams Sweep Twinbills in A.A.

Timely and sensational hitting sparked American Association doubleheaders Sunday which were swept by Milwaukee, Kansas City, Louisville and Minneapolis. League-leading Milwaukee had to rely on last-inning runs to nip Columbus 6-5 and 2-1. George Crowe singled in the ninth of the opener with the bases full and one out to provide Murray Wall with his fifth straight pitching win. Bob Thompson's single drove in Billy Klaus, who had tripled, for the nightcap clincher. At Kansas City, the Blues young rookie, Kal Segrest, 20, swatted four hits in five bats as the Blues took the first game, 11-3. He slammed a two-homer in the second for a 4-2 decision. Bob Coyle's homer, his seventh of the season, was one of seven extra base blows off four Toledo hurlers in the first game. Willie Mays, Minneapolis' sensational rookie, collected four for six as the Millers overpowered Indianapolis, 14-6 and 7-4. Louisville downed St. Paul 3-2 on Leo Kiehl's four-hitter. The Colonels took the second 7-6.

All Clubs Given Chance In National League Race

By JOE REICHLER Associated Press Sports Writer At long last those smart-alecky managers perhaps knew what they were talking about when they predicted an eight-team dogfight in the National League pennant race. "Anybody has a chance to grab it all," said Cincinnati's Luke Sewell last March in Florida. His words were echoed by Eddie Sawyer, Leo Durocher, Billy Southworth, Charlie Dressen and all the rest. Here it is mid-May, with a month of the season gone, and a mere three and a half games separate the cellar-dwelling Cincinnati Reds from the roof-roosting Brooklyn Dodgers. The Sabbath's activities left National League President Ford Frick whooping with joy: The lighter the race the happier is Frick. Cincinnati and New York were chiefly responsible for contracting the standings. The Reds twice subdued the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-2, 6-3, while the Giants swept a twin bill from the Phillies, 11-2, and, 4-2, to climb past Eddie Sawyer's men into sixth place. Brooklyn displaced Boston in first place, overcoming the Braves, 12-6. Chicago and Pittsburgh swept past the Cards into a third place tie dividing a doubleheader. The Cubs won the nightcap, 6-0, after Pittsburgh had walked off with a 2-1 opener. The high and mighty Yankees, American League pace-setters, received a double-barreled jolt when the lowly Athletics thrashed them, 5-4, and, 9-6, in Philadelphia. Boston defeated Washington, 10-1, and Detroit, Chicago and Cleveland wound up in a three-way tie for third. The Indians whipped the White Sox, 11-2, while the Browns held the Tigers even in a twin bill, winning the first, 13-10, and bowing in the nightcap, 5-3. Home runs by Adcock Two home runs by outfielder Joe Adcock, the second with two on base, were all Howie Fox needed to notch his second win for Cincinnati. A five-run third inning in the nightcap against

Marsox Drop Series To Springfield Giants

Play Lima in Twinbills Here Thursday, Friday

By JOHN SHORT Marion managed to register one win over league-leading Springfield in three weekend tilts at Lincoln Park in a clouting carnival. Nine home runs were blasted during the three-game set, six by Springfield and three by the Marsox. For Springfield, Manager Arny Gilbert clouted two as well as leftfielder Jerry Rende. Ed Sadowski clobbered two for the Sox, one a $25 smash Saturday night over the scoreboard. The locals dropped the Saturday night contest, 9-8, and split yesterday's twinbill, taking the afternoon game, 9-5, and dropping the nightcap, 10-7.

Meet the Marsox

Richard Tarys Southpaw Dick Tarys got his start in organized baseball in Detroit's strong sandlot leagues where he played Class D and A ball. Although used mainly as a hurler, Tarys also took his turn in the outfield and at first base. A handy man with the stick, he turned in a .321 batting average in high school and finished with a .310 in the sandlot league. A graduate of Detroit Chadsey High School, he hurled his team to the state championship in 1949. His biggest thrill came at Chadsey where he once pitched a no-hit game and whiffed 15 of 21 opposing batters. The 18-year-old, 5-9 1/2 moundsman weighs in at 170 pounds. Known as Lefty or Ricky to his close friends, he spends the off season by working in Detroit factories. He lists his hobby as playing other sports, mainly basketball and football.

Three main events will be included on the wrestling card Thursday night at the armory. Promoter Les Fishbaugh announced today. Chris Belkas will tangle with Buck Weaver in one 60-minute bout and Johnny Demchuck and Kit Fox will be pitted in another. Demchuck is the former champion of his division but was forced to take a rest. He has now started his comeback to regain the crown. The third main event will be the grudge match between Elvira Snodgrass and Ann Stanley. The match has been set up on a winner-take-all basis. Tickets for the bouts may be purchased at Markert and Lewis or at the armory Thursday night. A new cooling system has been installed at the armory for use this summer.

Nalon First In Qualifying Run At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, May 14—(AP)—A combination of improved tires, new gear ratios and eager drivers have wiped out all previous ideas of unbeatable top speeds for the two and one-half mile Indianapolis Motor Speedway. The fastest man in record-breaking 10-mile qualifications runs over the weekend was Duke Nalon of Sherman Oaks, Calif., and he will start in the No. 1 spot in the 35th annual 500-mile race May 30. The Duke and his Novi V-8 already held all records for the actual race up to 50 miles. At that point, he hit the retaining wall in 1949 and escaped only with severe burns. He took out the rebuilt Novi Saturday and set a one-lap (2 1/2-mile) record of 137.049 miles an hour and a four-lap (10-mile) record of 136.498. Walt Faulkner of Long Beach, Calif., set the old marks of 136.013 and 134.343, respectively, last year. The two other drivers bettered Faulkner's records. Lee Wallard of Tampa, Fla., qualified the Belanger Special at 135.039 miles an hour and Fred Agabashian of Albany, Calif., put the Granatelli Bardahl Special in the lineup at 135.029. Thirteen cars qualified altogether on the first of three weekends of eliminations. About 50,000 spectators turned out Saturday and about 25,000 Sunday.

Missouri Ready To Spend Hundred Grand on Athletes

COLUMBIA, Mo., May 14—(AP)—The University of Missouri showed the way in the Big Seven Conference by announcing it will pay athletes about $100,000 for the 1951-52 academic year. The money will be channeled through the university and the plan is 100 percent in keeping with the policy set by the conference last February. Missouri is the first member to announce a plan. Following the junking of the sanity code by the N.C.A.A., the Big Seven approved the maximum aid to athletes amounting to room, board, books, fees and $15 a month spending money. At Missouri, that will amount to about $100 per month maximum per athlete.

LINGER AWHILE: Frank M. Colley, Columbus newspaperman who also serves as president of the Ohio-Indiana League, has taken exception to the criticism by this sports desk on the recent debacle at Lincoln Park.

It will be remembered as the one where the umpires huddled on whether a Marsox batter had attempted to bunt the ball two pitches earlier. Presumably the men in blue agreed that No. 2 pitch was a strike, but thought it advisable to go back to No. 1 pitch for a consultation.

DEHYDRATED: Boil Colley's two-page letter down and it remains that the O-I prey is making his stand that, "It isn't in the rule book."

Certainly Colley is right—it isn't in the rule book. But there are a great number of other violations omitted from the book of rules that any level-headed umpire will under no circumstances permit.

NO ARM WAVING: Recall, if you will, the decision handed down by Ford Frick on the "Stanky Caper." There was nothing in the books preventing the New York second sacker from unnerving the batter by waving his arms as the pitcher delivered the ball, but Frick issued a card "put it out" ultimatum.

We agree with Colley that rule books were made to be followed, but certainly not as a substitute for sound reasoning.

It is doubtful that Catcher Birdie Tebbetts, then a Detroit catcher, was wondering if it were in the books when ever-ready Cleveland fans dropped a basket of groceries on his head in 1940.

And if O-I umpires lack sound judgment enough to be forced to consult their little black book on controversial plays, it looks like a "hard winter" for local fans.

NO HURRY: The president's decision now makes it possible for managers to tie their shoes, asking one of the bench warmers if they "have read any good books lately" and still have plenty of time to get around to the conduct task of squawking to the umpire.

It will be interesting to see how O-I skippers use this special privilege.

Then there is the situation of foul balls. If a manager thinks that a ball batted down the foul line was a fair ball instead of a strike as ruled by the umpire, he no longer needs to jump to conclusions. Instead he now can wait patiently in the coaches' box until he sees how the batter fares and then make his complaint. If he

The Giants added three unearned runs in the ninth to clinch the verdict. Bobo Salerno, losing Marsox hurler, cut loose with a wild pitch and threw wild to second on a double play ball to allow the winning runs.

Britons Have Little Hope In Walker Cup
BIRKDALE, ENGLAND, May 14—(AP)—Britons, who have seen their amateur golf championship stay home in only two of the five post-war years, were ready today to bid the title good-bye again.

It seemed almost a certainty that one of the stout United States Walker Cup members who retained the international trophy over the weekend would win British event opening May 21 at Portcaw, Wales.

And if the Britons had to pick a man right now it'd probably be mild-mannered young Sam Urzetta, the reigning American champion and star of the Walker Cup competition in his first international venture.

Urzetta teamed with Willie Turnesa, playing captain of Uncle Sam's forces, to win a foursomes match Friday. Saturday he trounced Sam McCready in singles, 4 and 3. D.C. Chapin of Pinehurst, N. C., was other double winner.

They thus figured in four of the six points registered by the Americans in scoring a 6 to 3 triumph. Three matches were halved.

Urzetta, 24-year-old Rochester, N. Y., player, didn't fashion on the most consistently good golf of the series but he impressed Britons with the manner in which he came through under pressure.

Warren

time for him to go after the prize in an all-out drive.

Previously, because he has won on both Republican and Democratic tickets in California's cross-voting, Warren has kept himself aloof from many of the Republican party strategy moves. These reports he discouraged attempts to hold the spring meeting of the G.O.P. national committee in California and it went to Tulsa as second choice.

If the national group goes to the Far West next January, the action would focus attention on the California governor's candidacy. There are indications the meeting will be at San Francisco the third week in January.

Pleth of Support

Warren undoubtedly will have the solid support of the California delegation at the Chicago nominating convention. That state will have added strength as a result of congressional redistricting which will affect the allocation of 1952 convention voting totals.

Warren men are said to be canvassing the situation among the 11 Far Western states, with indications that something resembling a bloc vote may be available to the California governor from that area.

Most of the Republican national committee members seem to think the race for the party nomination lies between Taft and Eisenhower, with Gen. Douglas MacArthur given almost no chance to win the nomination he says he isn't seeking anyway.

The assassination of Abraham Lincoln in Ford's Theater of April 14, 1865, occurred on Good Friday.

Rush Air Trip Fails as Injured Ohio Soldier Dies

CLEVELAND, May 14—(AP)—Despite a rush air trip from Columbus to Cleveland, an 18-year-old injured soldier died in Lakeside Hospital last night before an artificial kidney could help him.

The soldier, stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky., received internal injuries nine days ago in an automobile accident in Licking County. His spleen and gall bladder were removed before he was brought here from Ohio State University Hospital.
